

Andrew Phillips, Graduate Student, University of Virginia

Andrew Phillips is a recent graduate of Stanford University where he was a three-year starter and two time honorable mention All Pac 10 conference selection, as well as a two time first team All Pac 10 academic contributor for the Cardinal. His bowl experience as a player includes the Brut Sun Bowl following the 2009 season and the 2011 Discover Orange Bowl, when the Cardinal went 12-1 on the year capped with a 40-12 victory over the Virginia Tech Hokies in Miami. During his tenure at Stanford the offensive line was considered one of the strongest units in the country, leading the way for consecutive Heisman Trophy runners-up Doak Walker Award winner Toby Gerhart and All-American quarterback Andrew Luck. He is currently working toward his MS in Commerce from the University of Virginia's McIntire School of Commerce.

